Scripture: Psalm 18: 28 – 29

Take the Leap By: Rev. Billy Graham

The Bible confronts us with our moral independence within ourselves and our spiritual dependence upon God

In the picturesque words of the Psalm, David says, “By my God I can leap over a wall.” We can jump over some barriers in life by our own will and our own efforts; God has not left us completely powerless. But some walls are so high we need more than this.

The Psalmist knew such walls. They could be leaped only with the help of God. When we try to jump over them by ourselves, we repeatedly fall down. But with God’s help, we can conquer them.

What walls do you need to conquer? A habit you cannot break? An emotion that defeats you? An attitude that separates you from others? A heart beset with doubts or discouragement or fear? Whatever it is, with God’s help you can leap over that wall.
